CENTRALIS

Greene Central High School

Volume III

Snow Hill, North Carolina

Foreword

The years pass rapidly, but memories live forever—whether they are happy or sad.

In compiling the 1964 CENTRALIS, the staff has sought to select your favorite memories. This book is a culmination of Greene Central student life. Remember this quotation from William Butler Yeats:

"When you're old and gray and full of sleep, You'll have this book, your memories to keep."

W. LOYS MAY

Dedication . . .

A native of Greene County, W. Loys May has served North Carolina as a prime educator since his college graduation. Prior to becoming guidance counselor for Greene Central in 1960, Mr. May was principal of Maury School. He has also taught English and history at Ayden High School, where he was guidance counselor. Mr. May has held various district offices, including president of the Guidance Division of the North Carolina Education Association.

Therefore, it is with a feeling of gratitude that we, the 1964 CENTRALIS staff, dedicate our issue to W. LOYS MAY.

This year, Mr. May is acting superintendent of the Greene County School System.

Mr. May, an author himself, has an extensive library at his disposal. His book, YOU CAN LEARN ENGLISH GRAMMAR, was written after six years of research and study.

A culmination—

Quite a contrast! Billy Cobb and Wayne Beaman are two extremes.

Caught in the mad rush, students attempt to get to their next class.

Assembly is over—time to return to class.

Mr. Strother greets students arriving for daily classes.

"Mrs. Taylor, will you explain this problem, please," inquired Lewis Boone.

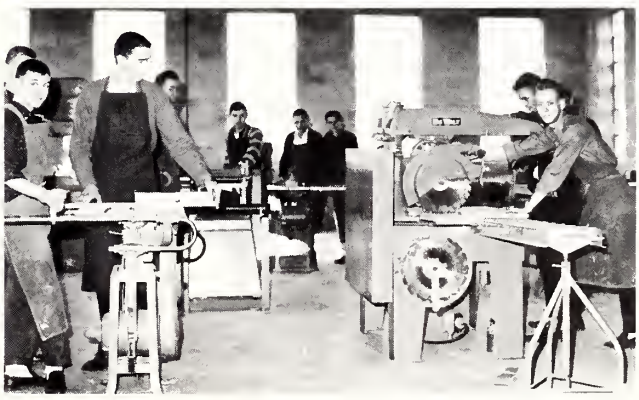
A Typical Day at G.C.

Eyes on copy—begin typing! Typing is both a commercial and an academic subject.

Chemistry students review for mid-term exams.

In the new agriculture shop, Nick Paul and Joe Griffin instruct boys in woodworking, metalworking, and tractor maintance. Shown here are Bob Walston, Donnie Morgan, and Paul Hobbs with Mr. Paul.

Billy Sermons and Johnny Hobbs are among the many students who enjoy a healthful lunch.



Parents are an important part of the students' lives. At any ballgame, one will find students, parents, ex-students, and future students mingled.

Many Centralites participate in church activities. Donna Hinson and Mary Holden Harrell are members of the choir at Calvary Memorial Methodist Church in Snow Hill.

Friday night ball games

Saturday night dances

Sundays

Hill View Grill is a favorite hangout of the Rams.

Becky Holloman and Charles Rouse are among the students who enjoy weekend dances.

The phone enables students, such as Larry Barrow and Wayne Patrick, to confirm assignments.

Studies together with leisure; Active Memories Tomorrow

Have a Pepsi! Half-time at the ballgame and everyone is thirsty.

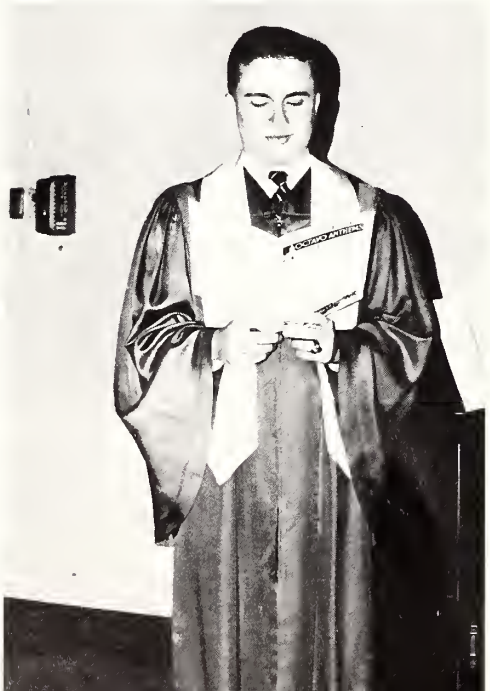
Becki Barrow, Connie Heath, Susan Speight, and Peggy Moore prepare for exams.

"The more, the merrier," says Claudia Grantham. When seeking fun, GC students prefer a large crowd.

Daphine Faircloth and Pat Exum were chosen to represent the CENTRALIS by popular vote of the staff. Selected solely by appearance, each must be a senior.

Mr. and Miss Centralis

In the fall of 1964, Pat plans to enter the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he will major in political science.



Could Daphine be daydreaming? Perhaps she is contemplating the future.

Homecoming . . . '63-'64

Queen

After graduation, Diane plans to enter secretarial work. "Practice makes perfect," says Diane, while she practices typing.

Students listen, some bored and some attentive, to the speaker at assembly.

Assembly is held the first Wednesday of each month. Service clubs meet second and fourth Wednesdays. Each student may belong to one service club and one honor club.

Centralis Staff

The sole purpose of the CENTRALIS staff is to produce a yearbook of which the school can be proud. Each year several members of the staff attend the North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute to learn more about yearbook production.

The minor staff studies pictures which have just been returned to the CENTRALIS staff. Seated: Mary Albritton, Peggy Shirley, Steve Beaman, Ellen Gay. Standing: Gail Beaman, Audrey Windham, Susan Moore and Linda Manning.

The major staff works intently on layout, pictures, and copy. Seated: Dorothy Thomas, Bettie Taylor. Standing: Steve Hardy, Dot Little, Vickie Pollock, and Dora Carraway.

Rambler Staff

The RAMBLER Staff has many aims and purposes. They strive to increase school spirit and to report all school events with unprejudiced articles. Their most important project is the production of the RAMBLER.

Last year the RAMBLER was awarded second place in the nation in the category of Offset Newspaper, Central (Consolidated) Schools with 700 or fewer students. The award was announced at Columbia University, New York, at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's publication judging. The RAMBLER was competing with newspapers from 49 states and several foreign countries.

Examining newspapers from other schools broadens the experiences of journalism students. Searching for ideas are Gail Taylor, Mary Albritton, Kay Hart, and Edward Harper.

Doug Davis, Becki Barrow, and Mrs. Hannah Allen, sponsor, prepare the RAMBLER to be sent for judging to CSPA in New York.

Vicki Pollock, news editor, supervises Dot Little, Sherry Speight, and Roger Kearney as they prepare news articles for the RAMBLER.

Doug Davis, Becki Barrow, and Joan Sugg draw the layout for the coming issue.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society, an honor club, strives to promote scholarship, leadership, character, and citizenship in the student body. As juniors, students who have maintained an 85 or above average in each subject are tapped into NHS.

The officers of the National Honor Society are CHUCK JONES, president; DIANE HAMM, Vice-president; BECKY LANE, treasurer; DORA CARRAWAY, Secretary; sponsor, MR. BUNDY.

Becky Lane, Becki Barrow, Dorothy Thomas, Dora Carraway, Joan Sugg, Chuck Jones, Diane Hamm, Vickie Pollock, Vera Huber, Bettie Taylor, Billy Sermons, and Sam Bundy plan the January bulletin board.

The Beta Club officers are as follows: KAYE CARTER, president; KIE BEAMAN, vice-president; DIANNE VAUGHAN, secretary; and MARY WYNNE SEYMOUR, treasurer. MISS LOUISE BRAKE sponsors the Beta Club.

Beta Club

The Beta Club groups students of worthwhile ability and achievement and gives recognition to those students. The club was formed to promote the ideals of honesty, service, leadership, and scholarship.

The main projects of the Beta Club are to put up a bulletin board in the front corridor and to collect goods for a needy family at Christmas. The big event for the club is the state convention in the spring where our club is represented by selected members.

The Beta Club members collect goods for a needy family.

Marshals

Becky Lane, Miss Janice Thompson, and Dora Carraway show the new head junior marshals, Edward Harper, chief, and Ann Moore, how to wear their regalias.

Marshals render services to the school at Christmas programs, commencement exercises, and any other school functions at which their services would be practical and wise. The marshals, chosen from the junior class, must have a superior scholastic record.

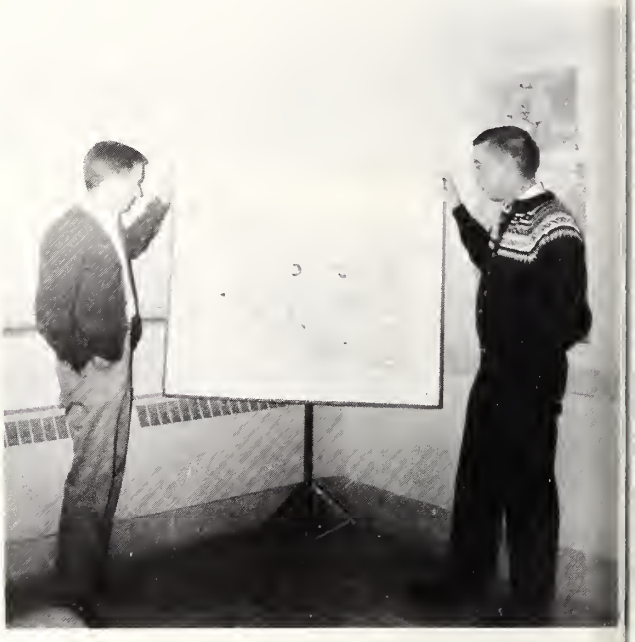
Dora and Becky tell the government class about Girls' State.

Girls' State Representatives

Becky Lane and Dora Carraway attended the Twenty-fourth Annual Tar Heel Girls' State at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The girls, chosen from the rising senior class, merited the honor because of their mental alertness, co-operativeness, honesty, dependability, leadership, and citizenship.

Boys' State Representative

Pat Exum, Greene Central's representative to Boys' State, was chosen from the rising senior class. While at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Pat learned about the workings of the state government.



Pat and Sam Bundy trace the movement of a bill through Congress.

Dora Carraway seems well aware that good citizenship includes keeping public property (even lockers) clean and neat.

DAR Award

Annually the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Colonel Alexander McAllister Chapter, awards to a senior girl a medal for good citizenship. The recipient of the award for the current year is Dora Carraway.

Student Council

Tommy Rouse, presiding officer at the weekly council meetings, leads the group in a discussion of current projects.

The officers of the Student Council are as follows: TOMMY ROUSE, president; BECKY LANE, vice-president; KAY CARTER, secretary; CAROL ANN THOMAS, treasurer.

Patrolman Eure helps Becky Lane and Tommy Rouse plan the safety drive.

Mrs. Evelyn Boado, Dianne May, Carolyn Rouse, and Marietta Davis work on the donkey for a Student Council float. The float placed first in the Kinston Parade.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America strive to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfaction of homemaking, to work for good home and family life for all, to create leadership for home and community life, and to further the interest in home economics.

As projects, F. H. A. plans to help a needy family, to have a fair exhibit, and to have a school improvement project during F. H. A. week. The members of the F. H. A. participate in Bi-County, District, and State rallies. They also plan an initiation party, a valentine party, and a Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Linda F. Taylor, Janice Mooring, Luvoice Browder, Kay Ham, Jennifer Taylor, Ruby Parker, and Mary Helen Shirley prepare tables for a Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Current F. H. A. officers are as follows: LOIS GREY, recreation leader; SHIRLEY CREECH, reporter; BRENDA NETHERCUTT, parliamentarian; SUSAN TURNAGE, historian; MARY ROBERSON, president; SUSAN SPEIGHT, treasurer.

Linda Nethercutt, Rose Hill, Brenda Nethercutt, Patricia Davis, and other F. H. A. members are on their way to a F. H. A. rally.

F.F.A. officers meet to discuss the nearing contests. Danny Carraway presides at the meeting.

Club members work on F.F.A. classwork.

F.F.A. members annually select an F.F.A. sweetheart. Bettie Taylor is the present sweetheart.

FFA

The Future Farmers of America Club is one of the busiest clubs at Greene Central. Some of their many aims and purposes are to develop competent, aggressive rural and agriculture leadership; to encourage members in the development of individual farming programs; to develop character, useful citizenship, and patriotism.

They plan to enter many contests such as the public speaking contest, crops judging contest, and the parliamentary procedure contest. Members also attend F.F.A. Camp, Convention, and Federation Banquet.

Committee chairmen Ricky Creech, James Morgan, Van Johnson, Donnie Morgan, David Miller, and Gene Eason plan the program of work.

Mrs. Boado, Beverly Meadows, Freddy Carraway, Sandra Meadows, Diana Cunningham, and Barbara Kearney work in mosaic tile.

The officers of the Arts and Crafts Club are DAVID ROGERS, president; JOY WISE, secretary; and FREDDY CARRAWAY, treasurer. LECK KEETER and MRS. EVELYN BOADO are sponsors for the club.

Billy Williams, Donald Webb, Jesse Webb, Janie Beaman, Lorraine Hill, and Brenda Hardison work in copper enameling.

Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts Club certainly is busy this year. They are working with leather, copper enameling, wood, mosaic tile, and silk screens. The students hope to develop hobbies, stimulate school interest, find valuable leisure time activity, and have experience in as many fields as possible. One day during the year members will display their projects.

Roy Nash, Ricky Dail, Roger Rowe, Jarvis Cox, David Cox, and Raymond Smithson watch as Leck Keeter demonstrates the art of wood working.

French Club

The newly organized French Club, "Le Cerole Francais," plans to study French songs, games, dramatic skits, slides, and French civilization. By having a pen pal from France, each member of the French Club will be able to learn about the daily activities of students his own age. A very worthwhile project of the club is buying books and audio-visual materials for the French Department.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, sponsor, shows French Club officers a map of France. The officers are KATHY HAILEY, president; PHILIP GARNER, vice-president; TONI HARRIS, secretary; SANDRA BARTLETT, treasurer.

These members demonstrate the varied activities of the French Club.

Sponsor, Mrs. Eva Boyette and officers of F.T.A. plan for the next club meeting. The officers are FAYE GRANT, secretary; ANN MOORE, vice-president; KAYE CARTER, president; and MARGARET SMITH, reporter.

Edna Hughes accompanies other F.T.A. members as they practice the F.T.A. song.

FTA

The Future Teachers of America introduce to the student the responsibilities of the teaching profession. With the help of the sponsor, students decide whether they possess the qualifications required of teachers.

Make-up artists, Linda Carraway and Carolyn Mewborn, prepare Deborah Radford for on-stage activities.

Donna Hinson, Carol Croom, and Elvyn Seymour repeat a scene from "Headin' for a Weddin'."

Dramatics Club

The Dramatics Club was organized to give students experience in stage productions. The presentations of a musical involves much more than meets the eye. Thespians learn about make-up, voice and diction, lighting, direction, costuming, and set designs.

Dramatics Club officers confer with Mrs. Jones, sponsor, about the play. The officers are GAIL STROTHER, president; JENNIFER TAYLOR, secretary; GAIL TAYLOR, reporter; CAROLYN ROUSE, vice-president; and DONNA HINSON, treasurer.

Becky Holloman tries out for a part in the next production of the club.

Library Club

To increase the understanding of books and libraries, to stimulate reading interests, and to improve the library service of the school are aims of the Library Club. The club, though very active on the home campus, finds time for visits to larger libraries. Members also attend district and state conventions.

Club officers and sponsor, Mrs. Tyndall, listen to Ernestine Mooring and Eleanor Eakes as they prepare campaign speeches. The officers are CAROLYN COBB, president; LINDA HEATH, vice-president; JOSIE SUGG, secretary; JEAN BARROW, treasurer.

Jane Cherry, Nancy Murray, and Linda Jones work on a scrapbook for the Library Club.

Library Assistants

Library Assistants demonstrate the helpful activities they perform. The assistants are Sandra Chase, Janie Beaman, Barbara Head, Mary Helen Shirley, Gail Beaman, Ruby Parker, Janice Mooring, Luvoice Browder, and Kay Ham.

Phyllis Stepp, Donnie Morgan, and Connie Radford assist Mrs. Tyndall during their study hall.

The F.B.L.A., sponsored by Mrs. Jo Ann Cobb and Mrs. Janice O'Rear, is led by capable officers. The officers are ZADIE BUNN, treasurer; DOROTHY CLEMMONS, reporter; PEGGY SUGG, secretary; RACHEL BEAMAN, vice-president; and JUDY PHILLIPS, president.

Club members present "Boss versus Secretary" at one of the regular F.B.L.A. meetings. The participants are Dorothy Clemmons, Judy Cobb, Diane Cobb, and Jean Beaman.

FBLA

Our Future Business Leaders of America Club strives to promote business-like leadership in students. Home and community improvement is encouraged. F.B.L.A. members participate in special events such as the state convention. The members also sponsor a National Dress Right Week.

Each year the F.B.L.A. fills a scrapbook with pictures of members and their activities. Chairman Connie Heath collects pictures from Kie Beaman, Zadie Bunn, Bobbie Sue Pittman, and Judy Phillips.

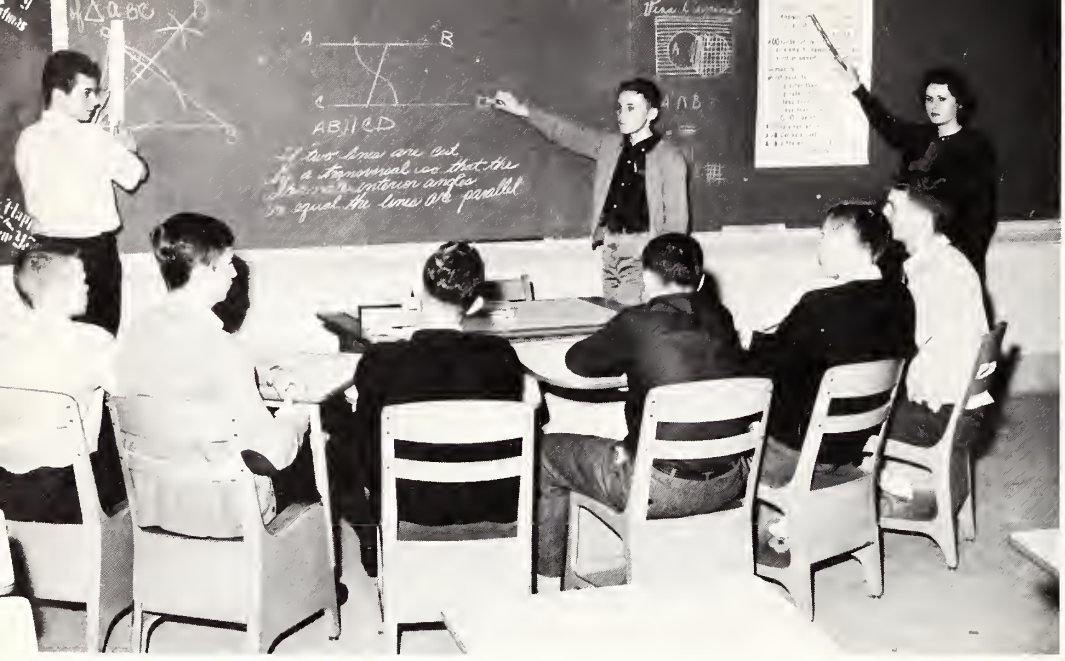
Monogram Club

The Monogram Club is composed of varsity and junior varsity athletes and cheerleaders. The club tries to bring about better unity among the athletes and the student body. One project of the club is to provide sweaters for all rising senior athletes and cheerleaders.

Tommy Rouse and Paul Miller, Monogram Club officers, give a hearty tug as they reach high for the club's goal.

Teamwork enabled the Monogram Club to produce this float which inspired the football team to victory.

"If we don't win, it isn't because we don't try." Representatives of the various sports are W. R. Lane, football; Joan Sugg, cheerleader; Harry Mayo, Carol Ann Thomas, and Dana Dickens, basketball; Richard Heath and Billy Sermons, baseball.



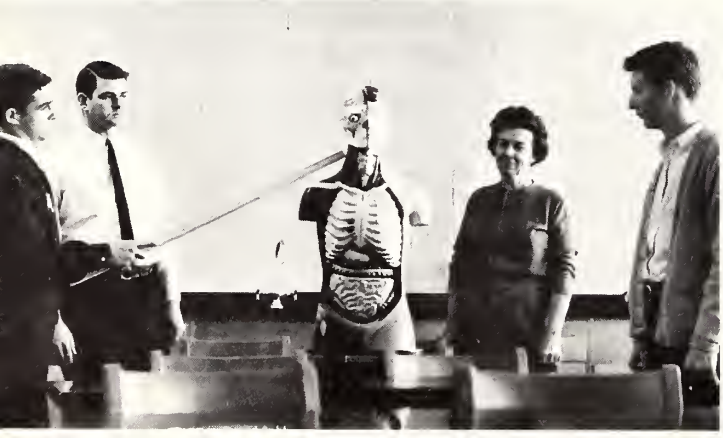
Geometry and modern math are explored by the Math and Science Club. Francis Sugg, Jimmy Goff, and Frances Creech are shown explaining some of the concepts to other club members.

Math and Science

The Math and Science Club was organized as an effort to provide students with math and science activities not included in the curriculum. Members discuss scientific problems among themselves and with qualified speakers. A monthly project of the club is to assemble a display for the Math and Science display case. Other projects include the presentation of individual research results to club members.

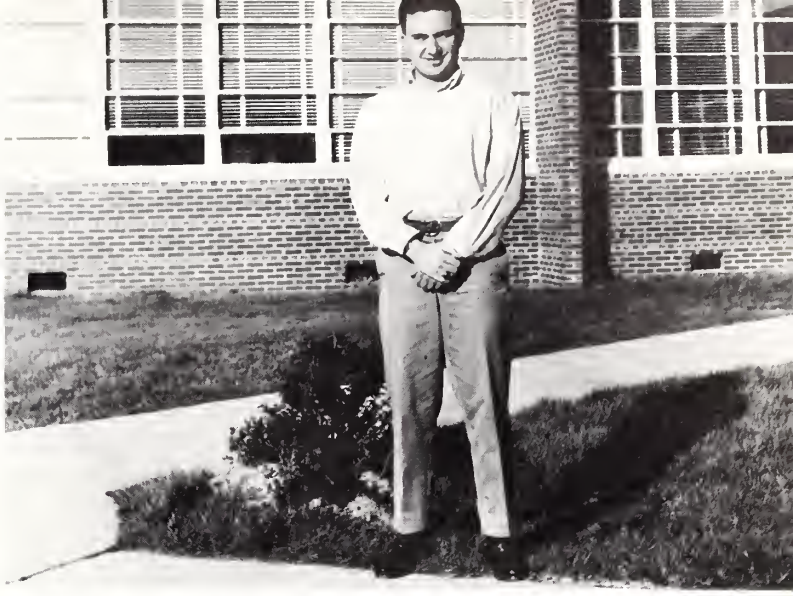
These industrious club members are conducting an experiment to generate carbon dioxide gas. The "scientists" are Jimmy Goff, Ricky Kearney, Stuart Stocks, Buddy Moore, Danny Bowen, James Taylor, Donny Bowen, and Francis Sugg.

Mitchell Hughes demonstrates his knowledge of the parts of the human body as Doug Taylor and Mrs. Martha Taylor, sponsors, and Stuart Stocks watch.



Musa Club

Carrying out the Musa Club project of decorating the lobby for Christmas are Peggy Beaman, Martha Jones, Brenda Hill, and Danny Butts.



Musa Club President, Pat Exum, might be reaching a "high note" as he waits for other officers of the club.

The Musa Club was organized to better understand and appreciate good music and to assist in any way that it can in the music department. The club plans to introduce music programs to the student body through concerts and guest performers. Another responsibility of the Musa Club is decorating the front lawn with Nativity scenes during the Christmas season.

Bible Club

"Know ye the way." Bible Club members endeavor to learn "the way" through study and meditation. Those studying the Bible are Doug Davis, Sandy Letchworth, Frances Creech, Phyllis Stepp, Mrs. Rosalind Britt, Judy Blomberg, Renee Letchworth, Carolyn Vandiford, Dottie Vandiford, Deborah Grant, Mary Shirley, Hight Harrison, Linda Jones, Vickie Parker, Roberta Worthington, and Kathy Mooring.

The bus drivers attend one of their monthly meetings at which they discuss any problems which they may have.

Bus Drivers

Greene Central bus drivers are twenty-three in number. The drivers are appointed on the basis of written examinations and driving tests administered by a state bus license examiner.

Bus drivers are expected to be at school on time each morning, report mechanical defects of the bus, and turn in a monthly bus report.

Jean Taylor represents the drivers of our many buses as they sit behind the wheel. These drivers should be commended for the excellent job they do.

Public school buses are inspected monthly for mechanical defects and cleanliness. Patrolman Eure checks the stop sign.

Our People Are Musicians!

Kenneth Ginn directs all Greene Central music activities. These activities include the concert band, the marching band and majorettes, the "Ramblers" (the dance band), and the Glee Club.

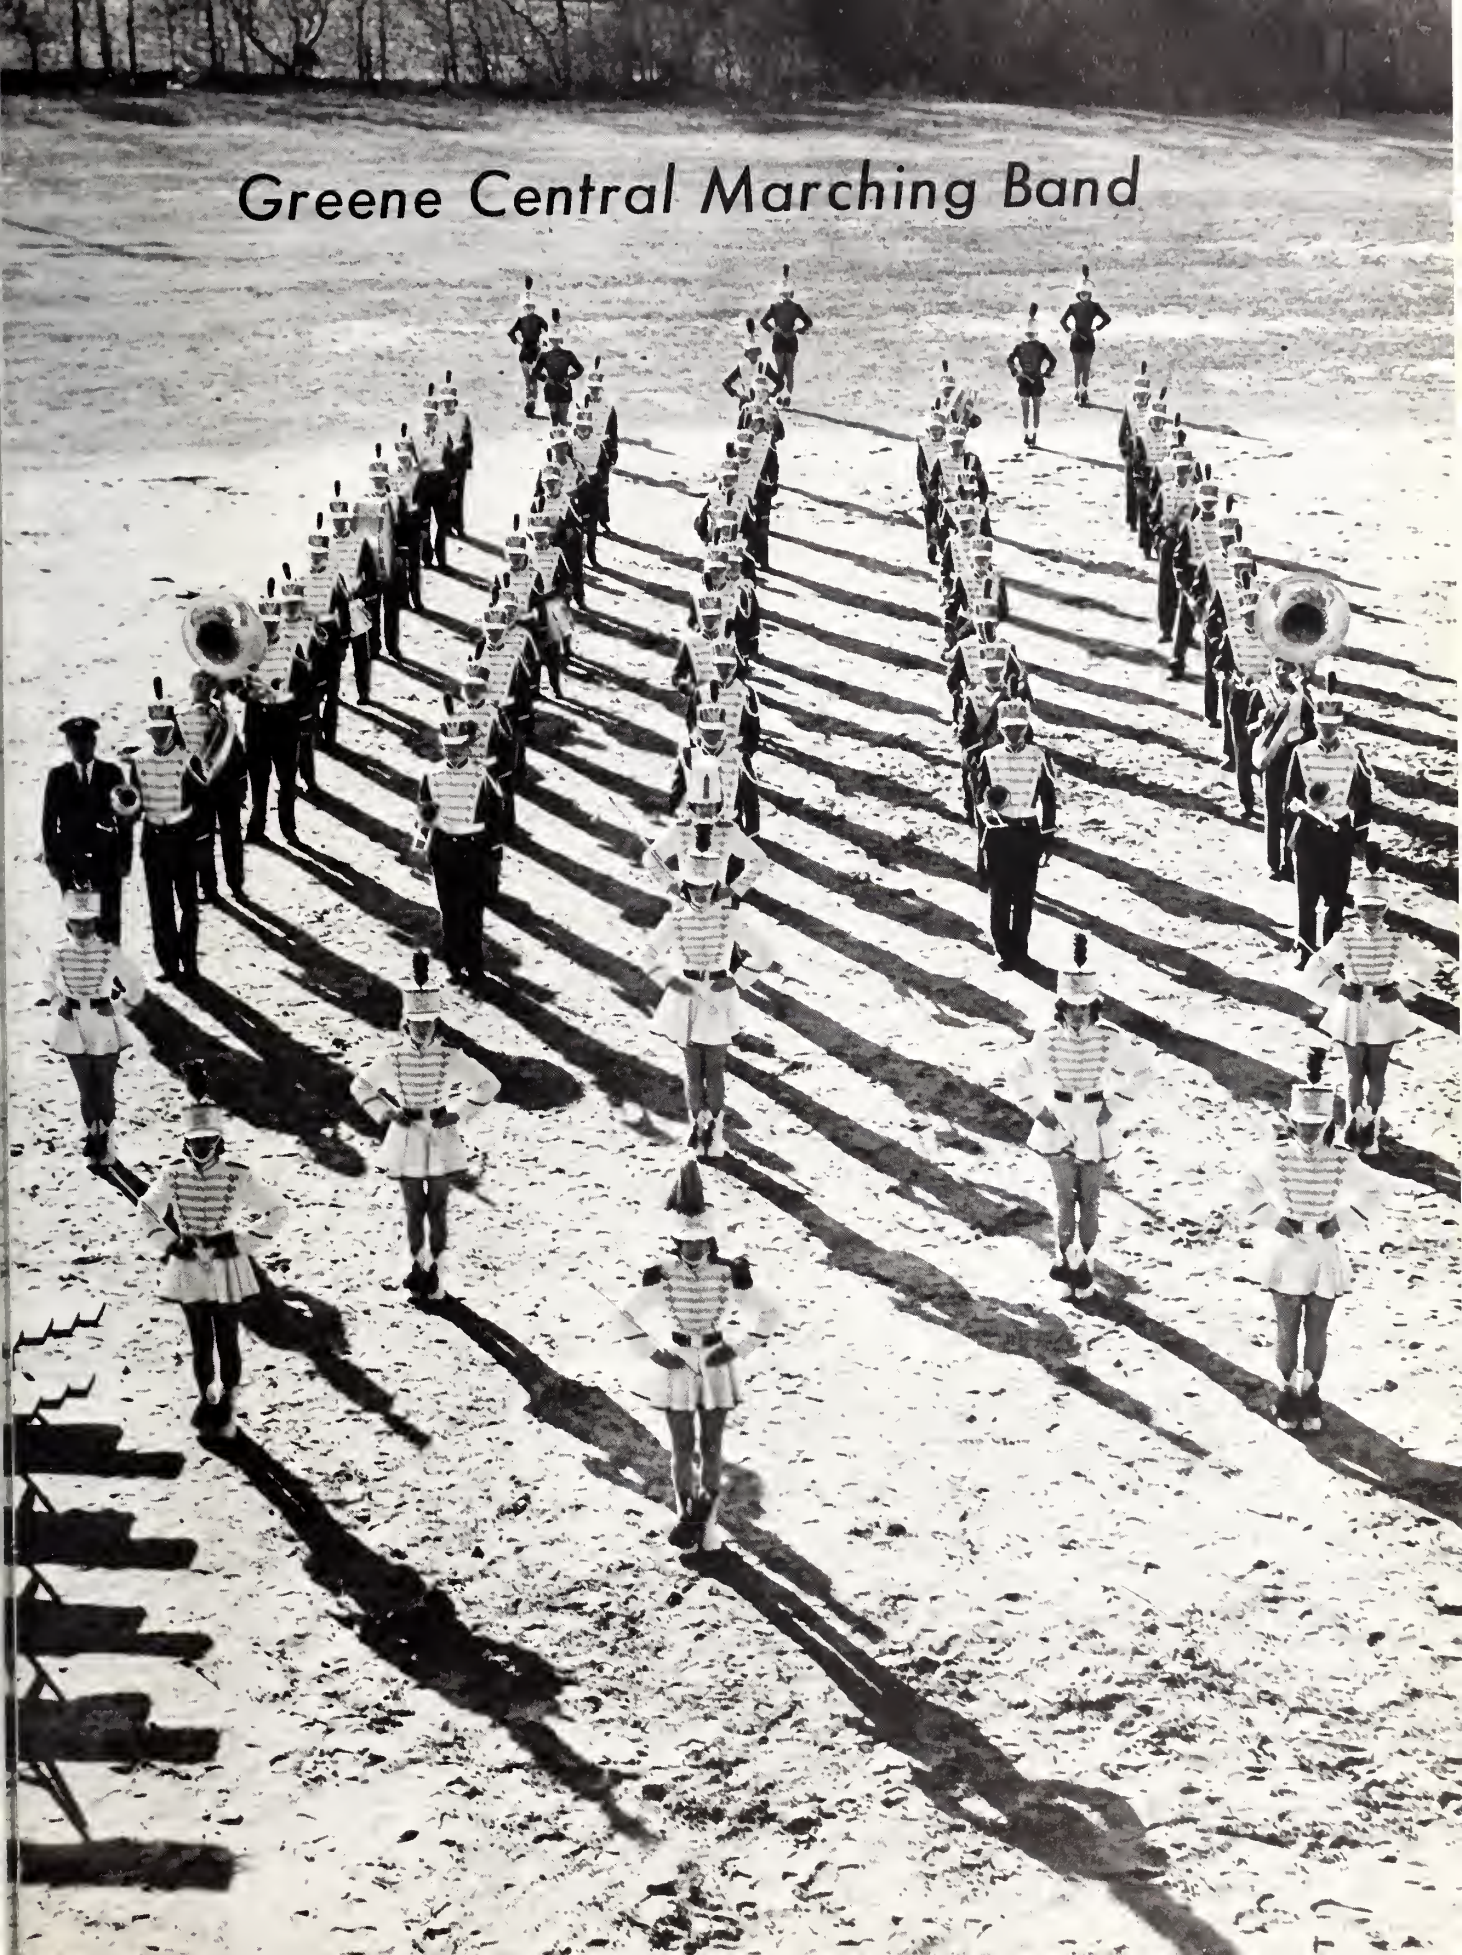
The Glee Club donned their new vestments for their Christmas concert. Accompanied by Mary Wynn Seymour, they spread holiday cheer. (First row: D. Vandiford, Nethercutt, Bartlett, J. Tyndall, K. Taylor, Hedgepeth, Baker, Holloman, Albritton, May, J. Jones, Little, Hemby, Winders. Second row: Carraway, Corbett, Fields, Windham, Taylor, Mooring, Parker, Moye, Stocks, D. Hill, Wooten, Adams, Sawyer. Third row: Harrison, M. Vandiford, Cobb, Potts, Davis, Rouse, Harper, C. Jones, Exum, L. Tyndall, L. Jones, Moore. Fourth row: B. Hill, Beaman, Simpkins, Aldridge, Bowen, Cox, Goff, Miller, Price, Sugg, Ellis, Radford, Barrow.)

Glee Club

"Sit up straight, and open your mouth wide." This is the cardinal rule at each Glee Club practice. Dianne May, Mary E. Albritton, Dot Little, and Judy Jones follow the rule faithfully.

Fifty-two students, from all four classes, constitute the Glee Club. Music is a sixth elective, taken at the student's study period. Practice is held on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The Glee Club performs at the Christmas Concert and at graduation. This year it is the nucleus of the musical entitled "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow."

MARY WYNN SEYMOUR, president; CHUCK JONES, vice-president; PAT EXUM, secretary; and AUDREY WINDHAM, reporter, lead the Glee Club.



Greene Central Marching Band

Concert Band

The concert band, composed of the marching band and the majorettes, gives two major concerts each year—one at Christmas and one in the spring. It also plays for graduation exercises.

Azalea Festival—Shriner's Parade—various Christmas parades—concerts—the Greene Central Band, composed of elementary and high school students, participates in these activities and others. This year they have added incentive—new uniforms.

"Let's get it right this time. Softer, now." Mr. Ginn "polishes up" the band for its next performance.

"The Ramblers" find time to perform at halftime of the basketball game. Members are Harold Crumpler, Dennie McGaughy, Kenneth Kearney, Stuart Stocks, Steve L. Beaman, Tim Lamm, Larry Head, Robert Watson, and Ralph Price.

Preceding the band are eight "class-lenders"—Becky Lane, head; and majorettes, Carol Croom, Donna Hinson, Angie Sugg, Jennifer Taylor, Marietta Davis, Cheryl Mozingo, and Carolyn Mewborn.

Becky Lane was selected head majorette by Mr. Ginn on the basis of her previous experience and leadership.

Majorettes

The majorettes accompany the band to all parades. This requires many hours of practice. In order to learn new twirls and routines, some of the majorettes attend music camp at East Carolina College. This year the senior majorettes decided to take jazz dancing to improve their performance at basketball games.

Drum majorette, Bettie Lillian Taylor, struts high when she leads the band.

GC's band doesn't end with the clarinets. Six junior majorettes—Brenda Jo Arthur, Trudy Britt, Connie Sue Barfield, Rose Letchworth, Linda Carraway, and Gail Strother, head—follow the band.

Band officers, charged with keeping order among members, are Steve L. Beaman, Larry Head, Becky Lane, Bettie Taylor, and Paul Miller.

Steve L. Beaman, the John Philip Sousa Band award winner for 1963-1964, was chosen on the basis of his outstanding band work.

Tournament

Greene Central was honored to have the tournament for the Northern Division of the Pioneer Conference held in the GC gymnasium. The Lady Rams defeated Four Oaks and Hobbton in tournament competition. They lost to Erwin in the final round, becoming the tournament runners-up. Our Rams defeated Hobbton and C.B. Aycock, enabling them to enter the District I-2A Tournament at Wilson, North Carolina. There GC defeated Edenton 52-39, C.B. Aycock 55-45, and Bertie 50-39. After the Bertie victory, the Rams journeyed to Winston-Salem, North Carolina, to enter the state play-offs. Hildebran, who later became the state champions, defeated the Rams 44-32 in the first round of competition.

"Oops! I bet I fouled!" says Carol Ann Thomas. The Lady Rams were defeated by Erwin 34-30.

Tommy Rouse leaps for a lay-up. GC defeated C.B. Aycock 55-44 in the conference tournament.

The GC student body turns out to give the Rams a big send-off as they leave for the state tournament.

The GC Rams seize their prize after becoming the tournament champs.

Our People Are Leaders!

Even the simplest thing —such as arriving at school —is made difficult. Faculty members sign in before starting the day.

Administration

Robert E. Strother, who has been dubbed as "Greene Central's Father," has served our school as a true leader and director. Even though his duties are many, he always has time to lend a helping hand and offer a smile.

Many duties would not be completed if it were not for the truck, "Ole Betsy," which Mr. Strother drives.

SCHOOL BOARD Standing: A.D. Warren, Richard Holloman, Harry Taylor, Jr. Seated: Mrs. Robert Nethercutt, Robert Strother, Mr. W.R. Price.

W. Loys May, acting Superintendent of Schools, has filled in for Gerald James this year. He has executed his duties diligently.

No school can successfully exist without competent leadership and direction. In a large school such as ours, this leadership is often taken for granted. We at GC should be proud of, as well as thankful for, our dedicated leaders; for they have served us well.

Mrs. Jennie Hall, Guidance Counselor, helps student answer question, ". . . but when will I have study hall?"

Mrs. Kay Carraway, Mr. Strother's "right arm," is always ready to offer her assistance to students and teachers.

Mrs. Myrtle Webber is secretary to Mrs. Hall.

Personnel

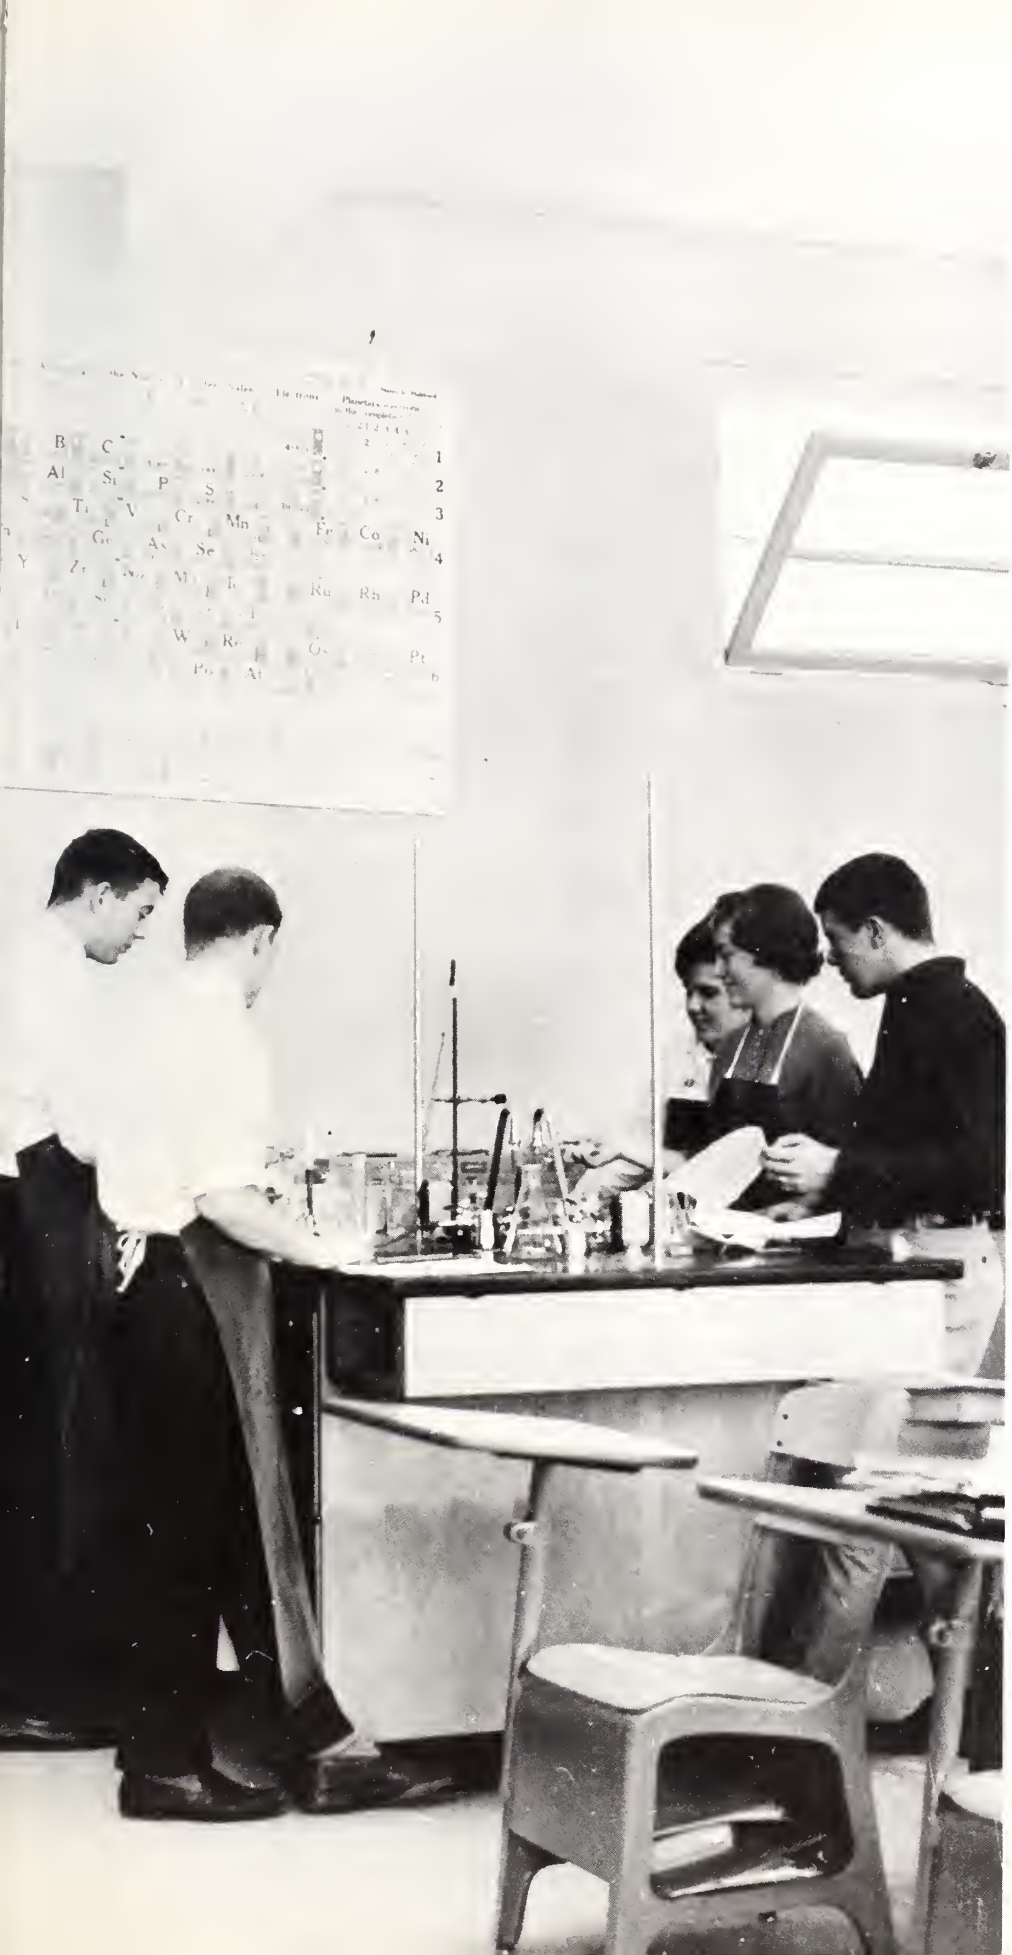
Delivering packages to the office is one of the lighter tasks of Mark Speight, custodian.

Raymond Vaughan gets rid of notes and test papers. This is a duty facing custodians of school and campus.

Through the conscientious efforts of our personnel, we have a picturesque, as well as spotless, environment in which to learn. Our thanks go to you, our proficient maintenance staff!

Frances Roundtree and Janie Williams, remove scuff marks from the well-traveled halls.

Preparing nourishing meals is the job of the lunchroom workers, Lossie Vaughan, Hortense Johnson, Mary Shingleton, Mary Moore, and Ollie Mae Beaman.



Our People Are Learning!

Chemistry lab—will I ever have a class here? Freshmen ask this question when they first arrive at Greene Central. Each year it is repeated. Many find the answer to be yes; others, no. Paul Miller, Bob Lane, Lester Hines, Gwen Rogers, and Sandra Bundy found it to be yes.

BETTIE TAYLOR, president; PAT EXUM, vice-president; DIANE HAMM, secretary; and JOAN SUGG, treasurer, plan the coming Senior class meeting.
